SUMMARY

This bill would prohibit, with certain exceptions, state entities from using identification documents containing a device that would enable personal information embedded in the card to be accessed remotely.

SUMMARY OF AMENDMENTS

Amendments to the bill made on May 4, 2005, would do the following:

- Prohibit devices that used radio waves as part of the contactless integrated circuit,
- Allow additional exceptions for which the contactless devices would be permitted, and
- Require state agencies to provide shield devices as a means to continue using existing systems.

The May 11, 2005, amendments removed requirements for identity document issuers to provide written notice to identity document holders. The May 11, 2005, amendments also added language that would make the provisions of this bill inapplicable for systems in use prior to the effective date of the article. These amendments resolved the department's implementation and fiscal concerns identified in the analysis of the bill as introduced on March 31, 2005.
